Session & Event Schedule .....7
McDonough Hall Maps .....19

Note to Participants

Sessions are planned on a very tight schedule. Each session will have a Chair/moderator to keep time. In order to give every participant a fair opportunity to present her work, please comply with the time limitations. Each presenter will have about 25 minutes. No more than 15 minutes can be used to present the paper/idea and up to 10 minutes will be available for questions and answers. The Chair will provide time information and will be instructed to end discussion on time so that the next presenter has an ample opportunity to present her work. Remember that papers can be uploaded and made available to other participants via our web pages, and there will be time during the two day meeting to follow up on topics of interest, thus the sessions are really ways of introducing others to your work.

2011 Recognition for Excellence
Presented to:

Susan Westerberg Prager

Keynote Speaker and Honoree

Susan Westerberg Prager

Executive Director, Association of American Law Schools

Arjay and Frances Fearing Miller Professor of Law Emerita, UCLA

Professor of History, Occidental College

A.B. Stanford, 1964

M.A. History, Stanford, 1967

J.D. UCLA, 1971

UCLA Law faculty since 1972

Professor Prager is a graduate of Stanford University and the UCLA School of Law, where she served as editor-in-chief of the UCLA Law Review. She joined the UCLA faculty in 1972, became Dean a decade later, and served as dean from 1982-1998 – the longest tenure of any dean in UCLA law school history. At the time Prager became Dean she was one of two female law Deans in the country. Prager was a trustee of Stanford University for 14 years. She chaired the board's Academic Policy Committee and was a Vice President of the Board. She left UCLA in 1999 to become Provost at Dartmouth College, and recently was President of Occidental College in Los Angeles. Prager is a longtime Director of the Pacific Mutual Holding Company. Over the years she has been engaged in the national legal education community in a wide variety of ways, serving as AALS President in 1986, and currently serving as the sixth Executive Director of the Association of American Law Schools. She is Professor of History at Occidental College and the Arjay and Frances Fearing Miller Professor of Law Emeritus at UCLA. Her research and teaching has focused on marital property law, estates, and on California legal history.

Professor Prager earns our Annual Excellence Award for her contribution to our understanding of property law, and for her lifelong commitment to advancing legal education and the profession.
